

Core Values

Kindness

We ask all students, regardless of age, talent or ability, to respond first with kindness to teachers and their fellow students. Lead, learn, and perform from the heart.

Humility

Be proud of your accomplishments and support and cheer on the accomplishments of others. Everyone benefits when everyone does well.

Safety

This is a place to learn, grow, and try new things. If your behavior makes it feel less safe for anyone (either physically or emotionally), you will be asked to leave.

Respect

Respect has to be earned. Respect the work. Respect the space. Respect other people. Respect Yourself.

Bravery

You are the only you on the planet. Love yourself and put yourself out there! Be brave in your choices and bold in your performances.

Openness

You will never get anywhere if you build walls around yourself. Be open to what the class, the teacher, and the other students have to offer. Take a risk and try something new — we'll catch you.

Striving

Students who continually refuse to participate or are habitually absent or tardy with no notice may be asked to leave. Everyone's time is valuable, including that of our teachers and your fellow students, so don't waste it by not giving it your all. We are here to work and have fun, but to do that you have to "dive in!"

Listening

Everyone's ideas and thoughts have a place here, and will be heard equally. You can disagree with someone, but arguing or belittling someone will not be tolerated.

Gratitude

How lucky you are that you get to sing, dance, act, play an instrument, and perform. Be thankful for the people who support you and who are helping you do what you love.
